Suffolk County Legislator Tom Cilmi attended the Silver Award ceremony for Girl Scout Troop 169-East Islip. The Silver Award is the final step before Girl Scouts' ultimate accomplishment...the Gold Award. In order to receive the Silver Award, girls must complete a community service project.

"As each of the girls stood at the microphone talking about her own project, I couldn't help but imagine how proud their parents must be," said Cilmi, whose daughter is a past Silver Award recipient. "These young ladies are future business leaders, future teachers...who knows, maybe even future political leaders. More than that, however, they are already community leaders learning how to be good citizens. Those are lessons in today's world which are desperately important."
